SCOBEE EDUCATION CENTER

History & Institutional Overview: The College

San Antonio College (SAC) is a federally designated Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) and one of the five colleges within the nationally renowned Alamo Colleges District. One of the oldest colleges in Texas, SAC was established in September 1925, as University Junior College under the auspices of the University of Texas. The following year, control of the college was transferred to San Antonio Independent School District and the name was changed to San Antonio Junior College.

With passage of state legislation authorizing the creation of junior college districts, administrators embarked on an active campaign to create the San Antonio Union Junior College District. Approved in 1945, the District assumed control of the San Antonio Junior College and its sister college, St. Phillip's Junior College. Two years later "Junior" was dropped from the names of the colleges.

The college's first offices were housed on the northwest side of Main Avenue High School. In 1926, the college relocated to a facility on South Alamo Street that was once home to German-English School. The college has been at its current location on San Pedro Avenue since January 1951 when it enrolled 500 students and operated from a single building. The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) granted the college accreditation in 1955. In the late 1960s, San Antonio College became a comprehensive community college by expanding offerings in occupational and technical courses and by assuming the San Antonio Independent School District's continuing education program. The name of the college district was changed to San Antonio Community College District in 1978 and again in 1982 the district was renamed the Alamo Community College District. In 2009 trustees approved the current name, Alamo Colleges District to encompass five colleges.

In support of the mission of the Alamo Colleges District, San Antonio College responds to Bexar County's diverse community by providing high quality general education, liberal arts and sciences, career education, continuing education and developmental education. Having expanded its campus and facilities over the years, San Antonio College is now one of the largest single-campus community colleges in the state and nation. The college enrolls on average approximately 18,000 students each semester.

The campus is located in the heart of the city, just minutes north of downtown San Antonio; nearby is a mix of businesses, including stores, restaurants, bars, nightclubs, and a range of neighborhoods including those that are low income, gentrified, and affluent such as the Tobin Hills area. The large campus contains many separate buildings, centers, halls, auditoriums, athletic and fitness facilities, cafes, more than thirty parking lots, three parking garages, and much more.

College 3D Interactive Map

In addition to benefiting from districtwide projects to strengthen education and workforce connections, two facilities projects at SAC are included in Alamo Colleges' current $987 million capital campaign: $25 million to support the Architecture, Drafting and Engineering programs and $95 million to support the School of Nursing and Health Professions.

2025 Bond Proposal

The college has a very comprehensive strategic planning process that is collaborative, transparent, and includes an ongoing monitoring and evaluation process designed to enable the college to make continuous improvement. SAC's 2022-2025 strategic plan includes identified goals for five Strategic Priorities: Student Success; Principle-Centered Leadership; Performance Excellence, Equity, and Community.

SAC Strategic Plan

Governance

The Alamo Colleges Board of Trustees is the governing body of five independently accredited colleges (Northeast Lakeview College, Northwest Vista College, Palo Alto College, San Antonio College, and St. Philip's College).

The presidents of the five colleges report to the Chancellor of the Alamo Colleges District and are responsible for overseeing governance at the colleges. San Antonio College operates under a shared governance model of councils and committees. The president works collegially with the Faculty Senate, Staff Senate, Adjunct Faculty Council, and the Student Government Association to support the mission and vision of the college and the district.

Alamo District

Alamo Colleges District (ACD) is a nationally recognized community college district and a two-time recipient of the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award, the nation's highest honor for performance excellence in 2018 and 2024. In 2020, ACD won the Leah Meyer Austin Award given by the Achieving the Dream Network, recognizing the District's holistic approach to reducing equity gaps between student groups.

ACD is one of the largest community college systems in the nation and the second largest in Texas. ACD includes Northeast Lakeview College, Northwest Vista College, Palo Alto College, San Antonio College, and St. Philip's College, along with a number of off-campus locations throughout the San Antonio metropolitan area, serving an eight-county region. Alamo's fall enrollment in 2024 exceeded the previous enrollment threshold with 77,191 students. The AlamoPROMISE program, which offers high school graduates last-dollar scholarships to cover tuition and fees, was expanded to all of Bexar County and broke its enrollment records, contributing to the highest-ever first-time-in-college enrollment across the colleges for the fall semester.

From ACD's formation as a community college district in 1945 through decades of change and expansion, the District has worked to make higher education accessible and affordable for all. Today, these five colleges fulfill their mission with a vast array of certificates, courses, and 2-year degrees. ACD credits transfer to four-year universities for those pursuing advanced degrees, and workforce development and continuing education programs help individuals build new careers and meet the needs of businesses.

ACD and its local partners are committed to ending poverty, enhancing economic and social mobility, and meeting workforce demands by joining forces to help more students complete college and obtain the necessary skills to hold high-wage and demanding jobs.

About San Antonio

San Antonio is one of the fastest growing cities in the nation and the second most populous city in Texas with an estimated 1.5 million people, of which 64% are Hispanic. The city is rich in history and cultural diversity. Founded in 1718 as a Spanish mission and colonial outpost, San Antonio was the first chartered civil settlement in Texas in 1731 and is the state's oldest municipality. The Greater San Antonio metropolitan area has a population of 2.5 million and hosts a colorful blend of cultures—Tejano, Mexican, Irish, German, Czechoslovakian and many more. Cultural attractions include: the River Walk, the Tower of the Americas, the Alamo Bowl, and the historic Alamo Mission.

As home to one of the largest concentrations of military bases in the United States, San Antonio is known as Military City USA. The city has the largest single installation within the United States Department of Defense (DOD), Joint Base San Antonio, which also houses the largest medical center for the DOD.

San Antonio has a strong and vibrant economy, supported by consistent commercial and residential growth. The city boasts spectacular parks and green spaces, festive seasonal events, and magnificent dining, entertainment, and sporting events. Much of the population is of Hispanic descent and many are Spanish-speaking or bilingual, preserving the unique historical atmosphere of this fabulous city.

SAC Academics

Academic Programs

Students attending SAC benefit from access to a diverse selection of classes, affordable tuition, small class size, respected faculty, and exemplary programs and services.

SAC and the other colleges in the Alamo Colleges District focus on preparing students for their next educational or career step by proactively:

- Reducing students' cost and time of attendance
- Providing students with additional flexibility and opportunities to earn a two-year degree
- Maximizing the number of credits that students can transfer toward a baccalaureate degree
- Offering stackable program options to help students successfully enter the workforce and continue to enhance their lifelong educational progress.

SAC confers Associate of Arts (AA), Associate of Science (AS), Associate of Arts in Teaching (AAT), and Associate of Applied Science (AAS) Degrees. As previously mentioned, SAC offers a baccalaureate degree through its RN to BSN degree program and may have the opportunity to add more baccalaureate level programs to meet workforce needs. Several levels of certificate programs are available.

The AA, AS, and AAT degrees are specifically designed for transfer as equivalent of the first half of the baccalaureate degree requirements of most public colleges and universities. The AAS degrees and certificates are designed for job or career entry, career development and change, industry/business start-up development, and technical services to industry. The certificate programs require fewer semester hours than an AAS and most can be applied toward an AAS degree.

SAC has structured pathways that guide students within one of six Institutes: Business and Entrepreneurship, Creative and Communication Arts, Health and Biosciences, Advanced Manufacturing and Logistics, Public Services, and Science Technology. Faculty, staff, and advisors are assigned to each institute to assist students.
